About Seminar:

Proper solid waste (SW) disposal is a major challenge worldwide. Uncontrolled waste dumping has adverse impact on the surrounding environment. According to waste hierarchy, land filling is the least preferred option. Therefore, there is an urgent need to understand various mechanisms by which recycling and recovery of various waste components could be maximized. At the same time, the land requirement for waste disposal will be reduced significantly which is not easily available in urban cities due to continuously growing industrial and other activities. The main goal of this seminar on Solid Waste Management is to enlighten all the concerned stake holders of the society on the essential principles entailed in the management of society's waste in a manner that meets public health and environmental concerns as well as taking into consideration, the public's desire to reuse and recycle waste materials. During the seminar, the source, composition and properties of solid waste will be discussed. Advanced principles related to the separation, processing, and transformation technologies of solid waste will be discussed. The reuse and/or sale of recovered materials are some of the focused topics of this seminar.

Report on Event:

Mr. Peddineni V V Prasada Rao delivered a lecture on "Sustainable Solid Waste Management for Smart Cities" dated on 09.02.2019 to the students of III and IV year students of Mechanical Engineering.

The speaker Mr. Venukumar Balla started his lecture, Sustainable Solid Waste Management for Smart Cities." The potential of smart cities in remediating environmental problems in general and waste management, in particular, is an important question that needs to be investigated in academic research. Built on an integrative review of the literature, this study offers insights into the potential of smart cities and connected communities in facilitating waste management efforts.

Mr. S. Venkateswarlu started his lecture to develop intelligent and sustainable cities, the government of India launched initiatives like Smart Cities and the Clean Development Mission. Solid waste management (SWM) has become one of the primarily focused areas of such initiatives. The changing dynamics of urban waste characteristics due to unplanned urbanization and rapid growth in urban populations (due to migration) has been a significant concern for local authorities in urban areas to develop an effective SWM plan. The development of a long-term SWM plan along the line of the government initiatives' objectives requires understanding the waste quantities, characteristics, and existing waste management practices. This paper presents an overview of existing waste management activities, financial and institutional demographics in six selected Indian Smart Cities, and the field studies to assess SWM systems as per the waste management rules.
